President's Corner

What a strange winter and spring we have had this year. I hope that all of you have come through the dry season in good shape with little or no damage and that you have received rain to help your pastures and hay situation. I was truly worried about how the summer would shape up this year. With the concerns about the drought and fires, some of us (myself included, I'm afraid) have been late in getting our 2006 memberships paid. If you haven't renewed your membership, please fill out the form on the last page of this newsletter and send your membership in to Pat Gent.

We've had our first clinic of the year and are getting ready for our June show. I hope you all will join us at the show, as an exhibitor, a volunteer or both. It takes all of us working together for this show to be a success. Please contact Dedra Tiger to let her know when you're available to help. We'll have a pre-entry capability again this year for the show. I'd like to encourage you to pre-enter yourself and your horse(s). It makes everything much easier on the show staff and on you when those entries are set up before the show starts.

ApHC board elections are here. If you haven't received your ballot, please contact ApHC and get one sent to you ASAP. We have three candidates running in our area. Please review their info presented in this newsletter and vote! I'd like to thank each of the candidates for their commitment to our breed and our area. Being a board member is an important job. It is also a hard job where your efforts may or may not be appreciated. Our region is lucky to have dedicated, qualified people willing to take this on. Let's do our part by considering each candidacy seriously and getting our vote in to the CPA's office by the required date - June 9.

Nationals will be in Oklahoma City again this year. Take the opportunity to see many of our spotted wonders together and performing beautifully.

We have other events in the planning stages. Gerry Lukacik is pursuing a very special visitor to our Club. We'll get that information to you as soon as we have firm dates. Our youth coordinator, Jennifer Marcom, is evaluating the results of the youth survey she sent out earlier this year. We were all excited that she received so many responses. Thanks to each of the youth who took the time to participate! I believe we'll be hosting a youth clinic in early 2007 in response to the results. Details will be provided later this year.

This Club is only as good as each of us and is only as strong as the individual members. Please contact me, Dedra, Pat or one of the board members with any ideas or suggestions for the Club. Let's make this a great year for Sooner!

Carol

Saddle Fitting Clinic Recap by Carol Johnson

An important, but often overlooked key to our relationship with our horses is our tack and how it fits the horse. It is important that our tack is comfortable for both horse and rider. I've had the experience of a good natured horse starting to behave badly and finding that the behavior was a result of a badly fitting saddle. We met at YMCA Camp Takatoka south of Maizie, OK, to learn more about saddle fit. The horses at Camp Takatoka are selected by their generous nature and willingness to work with inexperienced riders. They come in a variety of sizes and shapes. Keeping these horses comfortable as they work is important to their job performance, as they bring the riding experience to area youngsters. They are saddled in the morning, take riders out 2-3 times during the morning, give a rider a lesson, have a lunch break, then take riders out 2-3 times during the afternoon. They do this day after day during the camp's main season, so a poorly fitting saddle can cause real problems. Pat Gent, director of the Camp Takatoka horse program, used the camp horses to discuss the basics of saddle fitting, using the knowledge she has gained in working with these horses over the years.

Saddle fitting is done without a saddle blanket. Three areas to check on the saddle are fit over the back, fit down the back, and fit down the side. Of these, the fit down the side is the least important (this is referring to the skirt of the saddle). The first part of the horse to be considered for saddle fit is the side-to-side measurement of the horse just behind the withers. Horses vary from being narrow here to being very wide, with most falling in a 'medium' range. Check the fit over the back by looking at how the saddle sits over the withers. Is it laying down on the withers with no room for the horse to move its head up and down –too wide. Is it perched about the withers with only two points of contact –too narrow. One thing to keep in mind here is that putting extra pads under a saddle that is too narrow for your horse makes the tight fit even tighter. To help you understand this idea, think about putting on heavy socks to wear under shoes that are too tight to begin with. Does this make the shoes more comfortable? Also, more padding doesn't necessarily make a too-big saddle fit better. If the saddle fits at the withers, you would then check that the pressure is even down the side by putting your hand under the saddle at the withers, then under the cantle and seat to be sure the 'feel' is consistent. It's possible the saddle may fit on one side and not the other, so check both sides. The second measurement to be considered is the length of the horse from front to back between the withers and the loin area. If a saddle (or a stiff saddle blanket) is too long for the horse's back, it will bump against the point of the hip when the horse moves. Repeated irritation of this area can be very painful for the horse. The third measurement to consider is from the topline of the horse down the side to the under side of the horse. This is the least important of the three measurements

Pat discussed many aspects of the horse's back, starting with the withers. The withers and shoulders are not actually connected to the spine. The withers present one of the challenges for saddle fit, especially if the horse has very high withers or very low withers. It is important that the pommel of the saddle clear the withers as pressure on the withers is very painful for the horse. Pat showed participants how to check for even distribution of saddle pressure with and without a saddle pad.

The girth and how it fits on the horse – how often have you thought about this? Pat suggested that the ring/buckle should be well up on the side of the horse, as opposed to being in line with the horse's elbow, to minimize potential irritation. I had never really thought about this, but it makes sense.

Finally, Pat discussed some basics on fitting the bridle and bit. The crown and browband of the bridle should fit comfortably on the horse's head and ears. The chin strap should be loose enough to allow easy flexion at the poll. Pat showed us how to check that the bit is lying in the right place in the horse's mouth. You have to move the lips and look to see whether the bit is lying on the bars. Additionally, the bit must be wide enough that it does not pinch the lips.

The clinic was informative and will help the attendees in their efforts to improve their relationship with their horse by helping us to keep the horse comfortable while working. We would like to thank Camp Takatoka for hosting their generosity and hospitality in hosting this clinic.

Sooner Members Win National Award

The Appaloosa Horse Club honored Donna and Jim Chronister of Pryor, Oklahoma with the "Appaloosa Horse Club President's Award of Achievement" April 15, 2006 in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Presented by National Director Debbie Letham this award is given to only eight individuals nation-wide and is in recognition for their untiring promotion of the Appaloosa breed for more than thirty-five years. They have been involved in every aspect of the breed including, racing, horse shows, trail rides, breeding and clinics. They have owned and bred World, National and Regional Champions and a number of "Register of Merit Earners". Jim served twenty years as the Appaloosa Superintendent at the Tulsa State fair and was instrumental in the development of a $10,000 Halter Futurity, $5,000 matched Roping and the presentation of the Appaloosa history in a pageant of color and costume. Donna and Jim have served Regional Appaloosa Clubs in many capacities over the years. Jim is well known in the Mid -West as an announcer.

ApHC Board of Director Elections

By now, everyone eligible should have their ballots for the BOD elections. We've included bios for the three candidates for our territory to assist you in making an educated decision. Remember, all ballots MUST be received by the CPA office by June 9. Make your voice heard and get your ballots in!

Frank Barker III

I am Frank Barker III, a candidate for ApHC Director for Territory IV Zone B. My wife, Barbara and I have lived in Lockport, Louisiana for thirty five years. We have two grown children, and two grandchildren. I have been involved with horses since the age of ten. I started raising Appaloosas and became a member of the National Appaloosa Horse Club in 1972. I began showing and breeding Appaloosas with my children in 4-H and FFA, through their high school years and now continuing with my grandchildren.

I am presently a member of Magnolia States Regional ApHC where I serve on the membership committee. I was previously treasurer of the Cajun Appaloosa Horse Club and a member of the Raceland Halter and Riding Club, where I served on the show committee, coordinating shows and teaching classes for improving showmanship. Being a small breeder, I understand an owner who has one or two horses that compete on the weekend with all their heart.

As your Director, I'll work to create a regional club in Louisiana to serve the 196 members residing there, making our zone stronger and creating more members. I would like the ApHC to offer on the web site a place to research pedigrees, show records and distance horse mileage. I believe we need more stability within the club, members are nervous about breeding, fearful of what the next rule change will be. Why is there a CPO program when modern day DNA testing should easily eliminate the program and the expenses associated with it? I think it would be beneficial to offer an associate membership at a reduced cost for those who do not want the Journal. I believe the structure of the board should be looked at closely and disciplinary proceedings should be taken out of the hands of the BOD. Regional clubs desperately need help from the National club. It is high time that the National point fees are addressed, which is driving away members who would like to show but cannot afford to. I'm extremely concerned about the governments proposed premises identification program for the micro chipping of all livestock and believe the ApHC should take a strong stance against this.

I would like to stress that my livelihood does not depend on the ApHC. I am not a judge or a trainer; therefore, I will not have a conflict of interest when it comes to representing you, the members of this territory. I believe a Director should represent all the members of their zone and territory, whether you are a breeder, show person, trail rider or just an Appaloosa enthusiast, your voice needs to be heard and represented.

Thank you for your time and please consider me for your Director of Territory IV Zone B and the opportunity to represent you. Remember happiness is riding an Appaloosa. God speed to all for health, happiness and safe travels.

Cordially,

Frank Barker, III

Statement of Purpose

I would be honored to have the opportunity to continue to serve as your representative on the Board of Directors for the Appaloosa Horse Club Territory IV, Zone B. As an Appaloosa trainer, judge, and more importantly, owner, my livelihood depends on the success of the Appaloosa industry. My personal and professional goals are to see the Appaloosa horse Club thrive. I continue to support the idea that an aggressive marketing program should be implemented to increase the number of registrations which in turn will increase the number of memberships. In addition, I strongly feel that the ApHC should allow access to online pedigrees. This forward move will keep the ApHC competitive with the other major breeds. Likewise, I will support any programs or innovations that will push the ApHC into the forefront of the horse industry. With extensive knowledge of all aspects of breeding and showing, and my prior administrative experience, I believe I can competently represent our territory. Together the success of the future can be ours!

Professional Experience

The legendary J.E. Baker introduced me to the Appaloosa breed over 40 years ago. I participated in my first Appaloosa Horse Club Nationals in 1968. My husband, John, and I have owned and operated Letham Stables for over 35 years. Our breeding and training farm is located just outside Oklahoma City. We stand our own stallions and approximately half of our Appaloosas are foundation pedigree designated. Along with breeding, we train youth and Non-Pro exhibitors. Our accomplishments include World and National Championships in performance, Western, English, and halter. On a personal level, I have trained and competed in virtually every event offered by the Appaloosa Horse Club, some of which are pleasure driving, jumping, side saddle, roping, cattle events, endurance, and trail riding.

It has been my honor to educate the public on the qualities of the Appaloosa as frequently as possible. As an affiliate for the "Festival of the Horse", I had the opportunity to showcase our Appaloosa breed to all the spectators of this great event. The Color Breed Council Judging Seminar is another significant event that I have attended since its inception over a decade ago. Letham Stables has provided quality horses for the Seminar since its start. John and I have also had the privilege of coaching the Youth International Team Tournament of Breeds. Our Appaloosa team earned the top honors three out of four years.

I continually try to further my education throughout my career. I have attended Artificial Insemination School at both Texas A&M and Colorado Sate University. I am a licensed Real Estate agent, Real Estate appraiser and cosmetologist. I have attended seminars by world renowned clinicians and have conducted clinics for both youth and Non-Pro exhibitors. I continue to judge locally, throughout the United States, Europe, and Canada at the regional and World levels of competition.

Sharon Marshall, DVM

Dear Fellow Appaloosa Enthusiasts,

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to those of you whom I haven't yet met. I am running for the Territory IV Zone B ApHC Board of Director's position. I am a veterinarian and have a particular interest in equine reproduction. I run my own veterinary practice in Lexington, Oklahoma. I have been very active in the ApHC since the mid-1980's, first as a youth and now as a Non-Pro exhibitor.

In the early days, we limited our showing to a 50 mile radius from our home in Central Oklahoma. My, how things have changed! We have had the pleasure of showing from the Canadian border to Texas and from New Mexico to Mississippi and all points between. Even more exciting were the opportunities to show in Canadian National Championships as well as the European National Championship. During this extensive traveling, I have had the great fortune to meet many new faces, see fantastic horses and form lasting friendships.

Prior to making the decision to run, I did much soul searching trying to pinpoint the challenges facing the Appaloosa Industry. I chose to take the time out of my veterinary practice and attend the Nashville and Oklahoma City ApHC Board meetings as an interested individual. The amount of education I received regarding how the ApHC is actually run is amazing. Sitting through the majority of the committee meetings proved how involved each decision is and the ripple effect those decisions have.

I am deeply concerned with the business and financial position we currently find ourselves in. In addition, I am worried about the marketability of our horses. While I am distressed with past decisions, I am even more concerned with looking forward into a future that has the Appaloosa regaining market share in the total equine industry. Educating the potential new Appaloosa owners about our exciting breed is of paramount importance. Ours is a uniquely versatile breed and we should show case that versatility. There truly is a horse for every owner in every different aspect of the equine experience.

We need to ensure our youth continue to enjoy a strong youth program as they are the future caretakers of our breed. We need to ensure our Non-Pro owners are supported to the highest degree as they are the catalyst for our breed. We need to pay particular attention to the small breeders as they make up the majority of horses bred in the US.

I would like to bring my business knowledge and Appaloosa enthusiasm to the ApHC Board of Directors. I welcome the opportunity to speak with every one of you.

Sincerely,
Sharon Marshall, DVM

Improvements Coming to June Show

Preparations are well underway for our first show of 2006. This year's show brings several changes, improvements, and additions from previous shows. Among them:

- Improved arena dirt in the Payne County Expo Arena (foreign objects that were present last have been removed and the old dirt replaced with more suitable footing)
- The flat fee structure has been revised to work on a per horse basis. This means that open, nonpro, and youth can all show the same horse on one flat fee!
- As noted on the show bill, hunter/jumper classes have been added for the June show. Make sure and bring your over-fences horses and encourage your friends to bring theirs! Help make this addition a success and ensure that we can continue to offer these classes in the future.
- A local pony club will be set for tack cleaning on Friday night in the barns. Get your show and work tack looking its best and support a good cause at the same time!

Class Sponsorships

Class, division, and high-point sponsorships are available for the June Show. These are a great way to advertise your business, promote your farm, or just support the Sooner Appaloosa Club. Sponsors are announced at the show during the class(es) or division(s) they sponsored. In addition, sponsors' names and info are displayed on a sponsor list in the show office and at the announcer's stand at the show. Sponsor information will also be included in future newsletters.

Banner sponsorships are also available. A banner with your company's info is displayed at both of our 2006 shows. Company information is also displayed on the Sooner Appaloosa Club website.

Class Sponsorship -- $25

Division Sponsorship -- $75

High-Point Sponsorship -- $100
